voice against the interest of his country, and threatened him with immediate death if he spoke on the other side, the Roman conscious that the attempt to serve a propie was in his power, the the event was ever so uncertain, answer'd with a smile,—" did I ever tell you that I was immertal?—My virtue is in my own disposal my life in yours; do what you will, I shall do what I aught; and if I fall in the service of my country, I shall ave more triumph in my death, than you in all your is ores."

A turpriting discovery of a Musder, by the deceas d's Hand bleeding fresh some years after the Murder had been committed R. Beard gives an account in his Theatre, of a man having met him in a word, at a place convenient for evenge, murder'd him, and escaped without being suffered.—The body was found soon after, and brought before the Senate; and the murderer not being hearth, they ordered one of the dead man's hands to be cut so, and hung up over a table in the common goal of the town,

Some yours after, the villain who perpetrated this bloody deed, was arrefled and committed to the faid riles, and brought into the very room where the hand lung; and by accident, as he fat at his dinner, was just ender it, and notwithfiseding it was quite withered, yet did now blood afresh, and the blood cropped into the minimal's treacher; at which all prefent being greatly im zed, the goaler went and informed the Senate of him test for the prisoner, and examined him; he was greatly startled by that divins proving; acknowledged himself to be guilty of the faid murder, for which he was afterwards broke on the wheel.

ON PRUDENCE.

TER the words of Prudence, give heed unto he ims are universal, and all the virtues lean upon her; the s the guide and the mistress of human life.

Put a bridle on thy tongue, fet a guard before thy lips lest the words of thine own mouth destroy thy peace Let him 'hat soeffeth at the lame, take care that he hal not kimfelf : Wholoever fp-aketh of anothers failings with pleasure, shell bear his own with bitterness of heart.

Of much speaking cometh repentance, but in silence

there is fafety.

A talkative man is a neulance to feciety, the ear is fiel of his babbling, the torrent of his words overwhelmen conversation. - Beatl net of thyself, for it shall brin; contempt upon thee: Neither deride another, for it is dangerous.

OCTOR DONNE, a person of great parts ani learning, being upon his death bed, and taking his to'emp farewell of his friends, left this with them; repent of all my life, but that part of it I fpent in communion with Gol, and doing good."

Sir PHILIP SIDNEY left this his last farewell among hi acquaintance; " leve my memory, cherish my friends; but above all, govern your will and aff. Gions by the will and word of your Creator; in me behold the end of this world and all its vanities."

Sir Thomas Smith, Secretary of State to Quan ELIZABETH, a quarter of a year before he died, feat his triends the Bihops of Winchester and Worceller. intreating them to draw him out of the word of God, the plainest and exactest way of making his peace with him; adding, that it was a great pity men know not to what end they were born into this world, 'till they were read

Night, horror, flat atter, with combined meets, And in their fable arms embrace the flerts.
Thro' yielding planks the angry bullets fly, And of one wound hundreds together die:
Born under diff'rent stars, one fate they have,
The ship their cosin, and the fea their grave.

Rules for preserving Health in Eating and Drinking.

A LL aged and decrepid Persons cught to eat often, and but little at a time; because weak and wasted bodies ue to be relicited by sittle and little; and by moist and liquid cood rather than by solid; because moist and liquid diet nouishes the socrest, and is more easy of digestion.—

Keep confiantly to a plain diet: Those enjoy mest Health, and live longest, who avoid curic fity and variety of Meats and Drinks, which only ferve to intice to gluttony.

The less food a fick Person eats, the sooner he will recover; for it is a true saying, The more you fill your bodies, the more you burt them.

Coffee and Tea, as they are prejudicial to weak Lungs, and to those who are subject to weak Nerves, ought always to be used sparingly.

All men in health find by experience, that in the morning, before they have eaten, they are light and pleasantly easy in their bodies; but after they have included their appetites with plenty of food, they find themselves heavy and dull, and often sleepy; which sufficiently shews, that those sull meals are prejudicial to the welfare of the Body.

The unhealthy are found among those who feed high upon the most delicious dainties, and drink nothing but the strongest and most spirituous Liquors; whereas others, who want this delicate face, are seldom sick, unless they have such unsatiable appetites as to eat too much.

To sup sparingly is most healthful, because of the experience of an infinite number of persons, who have received the greatest benefit from light suppers. The Stomach being not over burdened, the sleep is more pleasant. From sparing suppers, the breeding of these humours is prevented, which causes deciloxions, rheumatism, gouts, dropsies, giodiness, and corruption of the mouth from the scurvy. Many indispositions are cured by salting and a spare diet.

Two meals a day is said to be sufficient for all weak people; and the ometing of supper, unless taken some hours before bed-time, conduces much to the health of the weak and aged.

Mifers, who eat and drink but little always, live long

His is a good World which we live in, To work, and to fpend, and to give in; But to beg, and to borrow, and get a man's own, This is the world World that ever was known. The Portion of a just Lawyer.

WHILST he lives he is the delight of the Court—The Ornament of the Bar—A Pattern of Innocency—The glory-of his profession—A terror to deceit—The oracle of his country; and when Death calls him to the Bar of Heaven, by the De hatenda corpus cum causa, he finds the Judge his advocate, non-suits the Devil, and continues one of the long Robe in glory.

An Anecdote against mispending Time.

S HOULD the greatest part of people sit down and draw up a particular account of their time, what a shameful bill it would be! So much spent for extraordinary eating, drinking and sleeping, beyond what nature requires; so much spent in reveling and wantonness; so much for the recovery of last night's intemperance; so much in gaming and plays; so much in paying and receiving formal and impertinent visits, in idle and soolish prating, in censuring and reviling our neighbours; so much in dressing our bodies, and talking of sashions; and so much wasted and lost in doing nothing. Take away alt these items, and how little a portion will be left for the discharge of our duty towards God, and the necessary businesses of life

An infallible Method to preserve our Health, to secure and improve our Estates, to quitt our Minds, and to advance our Esteem and Reputation.

As the practice of all piety and virtue is agreeable to our reason, so it is likewise for the interest of mankind, bo of private persons and public societies. Some virtues plainly tend to the preservation of our Health, others to the security and improvement of our Estates, all to the peace and quiet of our Minds, and which is somewhat more strange, to the advancement of our Esteem and Reputation. For the the World be generally bad, and men are apt to approve nothing so nuch as what they do themselves, yet I know not how it come to pass, men are commonly so just to virtue and goodness, as to praise it in others, even when they do not practice it themselves.

Cn Futurity.

DISTRUST and darkness of a suture state,
Make poor mankind so searful of their sate.

Death in itself is nothing, but we sear

To be we know not what—we know not where.

An excellent proof of Wisdom

IT is an excellent proof of Wisdom, frequently to meditate on the eternity of the Soul, and to confider that the Body nust foon suffer a dissolution.—Beauty is a flower which soon withers, Health changes, and Strength abates; but Innocency is immortal, and a comfort both in life and death.

Let him who purposes his own happiness, reflect, that while he forms this purpose, the day rolls on, and the night cometh when no man can work?

Answer to the Question, -" What is Religion?"

That brightens, not deforms, the human frame;
In the close covert of the heart it lies;
Blooms there, nor sternly threatens in the eyes.
An unaffected ease its actions grace,
Known by the motions of the sou!,—not face.
No sour restraint, no fore'd concern it wears,
No solden sighs, nor oftentations tears;
No solf-applicating shrugs, no censure, strife,
No spleen at all the blameless joys of life;
As wide from this are virtue's native charms,
As settled courage from consus'd alarms,
As solid reason's calm considerate train,
From the wild frenzies of a severish brain.

Sentiments of the celebrated Mr. William Penn, with regard to Marriage.

EVER marry but for love, but see thou love what is lovely.

If love be not thy chiefest motive, thou wilt soon grow weary of a married state, and stray from thy promise, to search out thy pleasures in sorbidden places.

Les not enjoyment lesses, but augment affection; it being the basest of passions to like when we have not, what we slight when we posses.

They that marry for money cannot have the true fatisfaction of marriage, the requisite means being wanting.

Men are generally more careful of the breed of their horses, and dogs, than of their children. Those must be of the best fort for shape, strength, courage, and good conditions: but as for these, their own posterity, money shall answer all things.

The GIRDLE.

Shall now my joytul Temples bind.

No monarch, but would give his crown,
His arms might do as this has done.

My joy, my grief, my hope, my love,
Did all within this circle move.

A narrow compass! and yet there
Dwells all that's good, and all # it's fair.

Give me but what this ribband bound;
Take all the rest the Sun goes round.

Verses written under the Pisture of Cupid aiming an Arrow.

Where was he born?—In you sequester'd grove.
What time?—When spring did genial thoughts inspire,
Who nurs'd him?—Young Desire. She gave the boy
Desirious food; sweet kisses, amorous glances,
The floral game of romps, and every joy,
Each soft allurement, that the soul intrances.
Whence doth he war so valiantly desy?—
Because his wars all soft and harmless are;
And if he falls, so pleasing 'tis to die,
That fear of Death can never him deter.

A new Method of setting Wheat.

A Gentleman, of whose name I was not informed, set half a peck of Wheat upon somewhat less than half an acre of ground, in rows at a foot distance, the soil sandy, without any dung; he thrashed out the produce of his half peck, and it amounted to eighteen bushels and an half. He imputes this great crop to his keeping his ground constantly cleaned from weeds, by means of a horse-hoe, and the planting it in rows, which admit a free circulation of air.

A Moral Reflection at the close of last Year. OEVERTEEN hundred and eighty, Is now forever past; Seventeen hundred eighty one Will fly away as fift. But whether life's uncertain frene-Shall hold an equal pace; Or whether Death shall come between, And end our mostal race; Or whether fickaets, pain, or health, Our fature lot thall be : Or whether poverty, or wealth, Is all unknown to me. One thing is known, that needful'his To watch with careful eye; Since every feafon spent amils. Is register'd on high. Too well we know what precious hours Our wayward passions watte; And thus we feel our mortal Pow'rs To dust and darkness haste. Earth rolls her rapid feafons round, To meet her final fire; But virtue is with glory grown's, The funs and flars expire. What awful thoughts! what truth foblime! What useful lesson this ! Then let us well improve our time! That we may die in peace !
